

BIG CROWD ATTENDS BUDGET HEARING

PETITIONS REQUESTING BUDGET SLASH GIVEN COUNTY DADS; ELECTIVE OFFICIALS SOLICITED

Charles Cromley of Harrison-twp is Chairman of Group of 113 Who Appear at Hearing in Court House Monday Morning; School Expense Should Be Cut With Salaries, Speakers Aver

One hundred and thirteen citizens under the leadership of Charles E. Cromley, of Harrison-twp, appeared before the board of county commissioners Monday in its annual budget meeting and asked the county board to make drastic reductions in the 1932 budget in order to prevent a bankrupt Pickaway-co within two years.

The meeting was held in the court-room and nearly every seat was taken by the large crowd of interested persons who attended.

HAY OPENS MEETING
John W. Hay, president of the board of commissioners, called the meeting to order and told those present that it was the annual duty of the commissioners to adopt a budget at the beginning of each year. He said that anyone present might offer suggestions or give opinions, and all would be taken into consideration at the final meeting of the body to adopt the budget.

Previous to the opening of the meeting Charles Cromley presented a petition to each of the elective county officials asking them to voluntarily accept a 10 per cent cut. Cromley said that each official agreed to accept the cut, if Judge J. W. Adkins of common pleas court would sign first.

CROMLEY IN CHARGE
Mr. Cromley had charge of the group at the meeting and introduced a number of speakers. George Kirk of New Holland, told the commissioners that a large number of residents in his part of the county

LEAGUE MEETS; 4 QUESTIONS

Frenchman Named President of Organization; Much Work Expected Today

GENEVA, Jan. 25.—The League of Nations council convened for its sixty-sixth session today, and immediately elected Joseph Paul-Boncour, of France, to the presidency.

Four leading questions headed the council's calendar for the meeting. They were:

1. The report of a sub-committee of the European union on private and public debts, which the committee will recommend the council shall "consider as one."
2. The problem of slavery in Liberia, which will boil down to an urgent plea for a loan to the country, whose defense will be: "If we abolish slavery we will need money to offset the economic turmoil which will come with abolition."
3. The resignation of Sir Eric Drummond from the league's secretary generalship, expected to be formally announced today. The council announced the unusual procedure of meeting privately in Sir Eric's office after the opening session, ostensibly to try to persuade the Briton to remain in office. Sir Eric appeared adamant, however, in declining to renew his expiring contract, this left a most thorny problem of replacement.
4. The Manchurian problem. The council announced a special meeting for 5:00 p. m. for study of the question, at which China was expected to appear.

Carper To Serve One To 20 Years

Manslaughter Verdict Returned By Fairfield-co Jury Saturday Eve

DEFENSE SATISFIED

Youth Charged With Father's Slaying

Sesco Carper, 18, of Whisler, Pickaway-co, was found guilty of manslaughter by a jury in Fairfield-co common pleas court Saturday evening after deliberating less than two hours.

Young Carper had been tried for the first degree murder of his father, Harvey Carper, which occurred while the two were on a hunting trip in the extreme southern section of Fairfield-co, last August. The penalty for manslaughter is from one to 20 years in either the Ohio penitentiary or the Mansfield reformatory whichever the court thinks will be to the advantage of the guilty person. Judge Frank M. Acton who was on the bench stated that the youth will probably be sentenced Tuesday.

DEFENSE VICTORY
The finding of the jury comprised of 10 men and two women was expressed as a complete victory for the defense. From the beginning of the Wednesday morning session until the end of the trial the defendant's attorneys stressed the cruelty of the father to the son by calling members of the family and neighbors as witnesses. Several important pieces of testimony included statements by brothers and sisters of the accused that the father had been tyrannical to SESCO, having one time hanged him in a well 85 feet deep and another time tying him to the front porch of the home and beating him.

The youth claimed in defense through the trial asserting that he shot his father after the latter had attacked him with a knife. One of the highlights of the defense's case was the acting of Attorney George Vorys of the fight in which the father met his death.

Masterful arguments were made by Vorys and Tom A. Renick for Carper and by Prosecuting Attorney Russell S. Cunningham and John Silbaugh for the state. Silbaugh made the first of the four final arguments and described the scene and events of the killing in the lonely ravine in the Fairfield hills. He told of SESCO shooting his father after he had been disarmed and then declared "Then to leave the body of his father lie in the woods to be mangled by the beasts of the field and the quitters of the air was an act inconceivable in one who claims self-defense," he concluded.

COOK SCHOOL PREPARATIONS READY FOR OPENING TUESDAY

Herald's Lecturer, Mrs. George Thurn, To Greet Women of Circleville Tuesday at 2 P. M. at Memorial Hall; Attractive Array of Gifts Prepared

One of the final accomplishments of the Herald in making Memorial Hall ready for the Cooking School, is the selection and arrangement of an imposing array of gifts for the housekeepers of Circleville and vicinity. These gifts have been donated by the merchants of the city and not only constitute an important part of the kitchen arrangement and stage array which will greet the eyes of the big audience tomorrow afternoon, but they are finally to become part of the homes of the lucky women who attend.

These gifts which include kitchen and household equipment, are surrounded with other devices for modern home efficiency with the result that Mrs. Thurn's kitchen is a marvel to behold. In this stage kitchen Mrs. Thurn who has been brought to Circleville by the Herald will begin her four-day session of cooking schools, tomorrow at two o'clock.

Every housekeeper in Circleville and vicinity is invited to attend. There is no admission whatsoever. No tickets are required and no seats are reserved. But every woman who attends is urged to bring along her sharpest pencil and a note book. There will be many valuable suggestions made from the stage which ought to be written down for further consideration.

Each day's recipes will be distributed in printed leaflet form, but while these are being demonstrated on the stage, questions may arise as to the handling of the ingredients, time for baking and other manipulation. The answers, which the lecturer gives her audience, while she mixes, stirs, bakes and bakes, are all worth writing down.

Mrs. Thurn urges that the women come early. The doors of Memorial Hall will be open an hour before the lecture begins. There will be a musical program to entertain the early comers while they fill out question blanks and name blanks for the gifts.

One of the most interesting features of each day's session is Mrs. Thurn's lecture which precedes the cookery demonstrations. In her discussion she will give her listeners facts about new household equipment, new food products, new (Continued on Page Six.)

WOMEN HURT IN COLLISION OF 2 AUTOS

Young Lancaster Woman Suffers Fractures Of Both Limbs Sunday

MOTHER INJURED

Cars Crash At 104 And 10 West Of Here

An automobile collision at the intersection of the Jackson-pk and the Williamsport-pk, shortly after 6 p. m. Sunday resulted seriously for at least one person, Mrs. Irene Crook, 21, of Mt. Ida-ave, Lancaster, is a patient in Berger hospital suffering from fractures of both limbs and painful lacerations and bruises about the head and face.

Her mother, Mrs. Dessie Darbyshire, 44, sustained a bad cut on her forehead and her husband, Carroll Crook, 24, suffered a cut nose.

H. Hammond, of Columbus, the driver of the other car, escaped with minor injuries and went to his home on a bus after the wreck. Mrs. Crook's right limb is broken twice above the knee and her left ankle is fractured.

MEET AT CROSSING
The crash is said to have happened when the Hammond car, a Chevrolet coach and the Crook car, a Chevrolet coupe, arrived at the intersection at the same second. The Crook car was almost across the road when the Hammond automobile crashed against the side of it. The Lancaster Chevrolet was thrown across the road and turned over twice. The car was almost completely wrecked. The front end of the Hammond automobile was badly damaged. Both cars are at the Circleville Motors garage.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL
The Albough ambulance was summoned and the injured were rushed to Berger hospital where they were placed under the care of Drs. H. D. Jackson and G. D. Sheets.

Young Crook was discharged from the hospital after his injured nose was treated. He is an employee of the stereotypy department of the Lancaster Gazette.

Mrs. Darbyshire, Mrs. Crook's mother, makes her home with her daughter and son-in-law.

The Lancaster people had spent the day in Washington C. H. and were returning to their homes when the crash occurred.

Hammond was alone in his automobile.

PICKENS IS HURT

Robert Pickens, Watt-st, suffered a deep cut on the forehead and bruises about the face and his companion, Christian Weller, Lancaster-pk, escaped uninjured, when the Chevrolet sedan driven by Pickens and a Chevrolet roadster driven by Roy Walliser, Clinton-st, collided at S. Court and Harrison-sts, Sunday at 2:20 p. m.

Walliser and a companion also escaped unhurt.

Pickens was driving south on Court-st when the Walliser car came from Harrison-st in front of his car. The front end of the Chevrolet roadster was badly damaged and the left side of the Pickens car was smashed and glass was broken.

Immediately following the wreck, the man with Walliser darted from the car and ran at full speed north on Court-st juggling his hat in one hand and a "jug of something" in the other.

E. E. Clifton wrecking service towed the Pickens car to its garage for repairs.

Jack Tinton, 25, well-known Derby man, is in serious condition in Mercy hospital, Columbus, suffering from fractures of several ribs, one leg and one arm, the result of a wreck Saturday near Grove City.

TIGERS TO PLAY AT HOME FOUR WEEKS; DELAWARE IS FIRST

Bexley, Grandview, Westerville to follow Ervin Carlisle's quintet here with local facing fine opportunity to gain league lead; Thacher to be eligible after Friday.

Circleville high school's varsity basketball team will have its 'Golden Opportunity' to make headway in the Central league during the next four weeks with home game scheduled on four consecutive Fridays.

The first team to invade this city is Delaware next Friday evening. In succession Bexley, Grandview and Westerville will appear here for games. Other games next Friday evening will be the all-important tilt between Westerville and Grandview on the latter's court and Marysville and Bexley meeting on the Columbus east side floor.

NOT A SETUP
Delaware is tied with Bexley for the cellar of the loop but that fact should not give the Tigers anything to crow about. It will be remembered that Delaware lost to Grandview by only one point in an overtime game the first contest of the league season and last Friday defeated Bexley worse than Circleville did. Coach E. F. Carlisle of the Delaware school has a fast improving outfit that will test the Tigers to its fullest power in order to gain a victory.

Bexley will follow here the next week and if Circleville can stop Bexley, Carlton Smith's classy forward, a victory should be gained. Then will come the Grandview team which gained an undeserved three point margin over the locals on the Columbus suburb court 29-26 after Bill Hegele and Peter Stout had been excused from the contest on fouls. Bill Zwick, Grandview mentor, will lose his star center, Taylor, at semester

MICHIGAN NEXT FOR OHIO STATE CAGERS

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 25 — An old athletic rivalry will be renewed here Thursday when the Michigan basketball team invades the Coliseum at the state fair grounds to tackle the Ohio State quintet. The rivalry goes back to 1897.

The two first met in basketball in 1909. The present series began in 1918. An all-time record shows that Ohio State now has 11 victories as against 13 for Michigan.

Thursday night's engagement will be one of the features of the local season. This game also marks the halfway point in the 17-game schedule for the Ohio State quintet. Thursday's melee will not be broadcast since the university station, WEAQ, does not have time on the air on this night.

Against an Ohio State team with Michigan is expected to start three sophomores in the lineup, quintet containing four letter men and a sophomore center. The Ohio State lineup will probably be Robert Colburn, Dayton, and John Fugitt, Portsmouth, forwards, and Frederick Conrad, Wooster, center; Captain Joe Hoffer, Youngstown, and Howard Mattison, Erie, Pa., guards.

WILSON TRADE PLEASES ALL

Hack Expects To Have Good Year With Brooklyn Robins; Likes Max Carey.

BY LES CONKLIN.
NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Hack Wilson, kicked all over the lot by Lady Luck since he set a National League record of 56 home runs in 1930, is getting the finest kind of a break in being bought by the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Your ordinary ballplayer would be frothing at the mouth if transferred from the world's champion St. Louis Cardinals to the fourth-place Brooklyn club. But despite his departure from a prospective pennant winner, Wilson is likely to draw twice as much pay with the Dodgers as he would have received from the Cardinals.

Until recently it appeared Hack was going to be the victim of the most severe salary cut in baseball history. The pudgy outfielder, who drew a magnificent stipend of $33,000 from the Chicago Cubs last season as a reward for his home run orgy the previous year, got the shock of his life when his new owners, the Cardinals, tendered him a 1932 contract calling for an annual wage of only $7,500.

Sam Breadon of the Cards was adamant when pressed to raise the ante a couple of G's, but Brooklyn will take the rubber off the bank roll to save Wilson's wounded feelings. According to reports today, the club is prepared to offer Hack a salary as high as $15,000. Some observers who love to spend other men's money even predict that the castoff may get $20,000.

That there will be no friction between Wilson and Manager Max Carey was indicated by Hack's telegram to a friend here today as follows:

"Am delighted over trade. Carey always has been a good fellow and should make a swell manager. I welcome with open arms the opportunity to play ball with him."

Hack's advent is doubly welcome to Brooklyn fans because the team lost much of its color with the passing of such veteran standbys as Uncle Wilbert Robinson, Rube Bressler and the fiery Dolf Luque. If he lives up to past performances, Wilson will supply enough color to equip a rainbow.

Acquisition of the former home run king means that Johnny Frederick, Brooklyn's 1931 center fielder, will be relegated to the bench or traded. Johnny was off to a poor start last season and never got over it.

Why should our tears in sorrow flow,
When God recalls His own,
And bids them leave a world of woe
For an immortal crown?

Is not e'en death a gain to those Whose life to God was given?
Gladly to earth their eyes they close
To open them in heaven.

Then let our sorrows cease
God has recalled his own,
But our heads in every woe
Still say, "Thy Will be done."

CARD OF THANKS.
We desire to thank our many friends and neighbors for the kindness and sympathy shown us during the time of our bereavement; also for the many beautiful floral tributes.

45 OHIO TOWNS WILL SEND SPEAKERS TO FARMERS' WEEK

Speakers from 45 Ohio communities and 27 farmers and home-makers throughout the state will address some 8,000 visitors at Farmers' Week, February 1-5, at the Ohio State University, Columbus, according to H. C. Ramsower, director of agricultural extension at the state institution, who says that 276 speakers from 13 states and Canada will participate in the farm classic this year.

Focusing the attention of the state on the present agricultural depression and studying methods for increasing farm income in spite of low prices and demoralized business conditions, the Farmers' Week program during this first week in February will throw the spotlight on such problems as taxes, home-made farm relief, farm leases, and other topics of economic interest to ruralites.

Scores of farmers throughout the state will receive high honors when they attend this week at the state university. Many will be elected to the honor clubs, such as the 100 bushel corn club, the 400 bushel wheat club, and the 300 bushel potato club; others will receive recognition for being master farmers, and still others will be honored for their achievements in the field of livestock production.

Banquets, movies, old-time dancing, concerts, games, and contests will make up part of the program and serve to lighten some of the serious discussions on such subjects as profitable livestock production, rations for dairy cows, the outlook for Ohio agriculture in 1932, ways of cutting farm costs, and greater incomes from such crops as apples, wheat, alfalfa, potatoes, and corn.

Farmers' Institutes, 4-H clubs, the breed organizations, the farm bureau, the Grange, and other rural groups also will participate in Farmers' Week, February 1-5, when they meet in Columbus the first week in February.

NORFOLK, Neb.—A brand-new wrinkle in the liquor question is the latest subject of heated debate here. The question is: will Mrs. Louise Brandhorst go to jail? When raiders appeared suddenly at her home, Mrs. Brandhorst poured the contents down her neck. She forgot that there were such people as police matrons. One of these promptly undressed her in private and wrung out her clothing into a hat. Several ounces of liquor were then transferred from the hat to the bottle.

British Prison Scene Of Rioting; None Are Killed

PRINCETOWN, Eng., Jan. 25.—Bleak Dartmoor prison, where England sends her most dangerous criminals, was wrecked today as a result of the most serious penal riot in the country's modern history.

Eighty-five persons, including several guards, were wounded in a battle which lasted for nearly 12 hours Sunday. The outbreak came as a climax to weeks of unrest, the immediate cause being the convicts' dissatisfaction with their morning porridge.

Despite the seriousness of the riot, in which several portions of the institution were set afire, not one prisoner escaped. The uprising was checked without a death, an official report stated, although 20 of the injured were seriously hurt and two critically.

Approximately half of the 450 Dartmoor convicts took part in the riot. For several hours the rioters were in complete control of the prison except for the outer walls, where guards turned back those who attempted escape by levelling guns at them. One prisoner, who led a group which tried to scale the walls, was shot to the ground and his followers retreated.

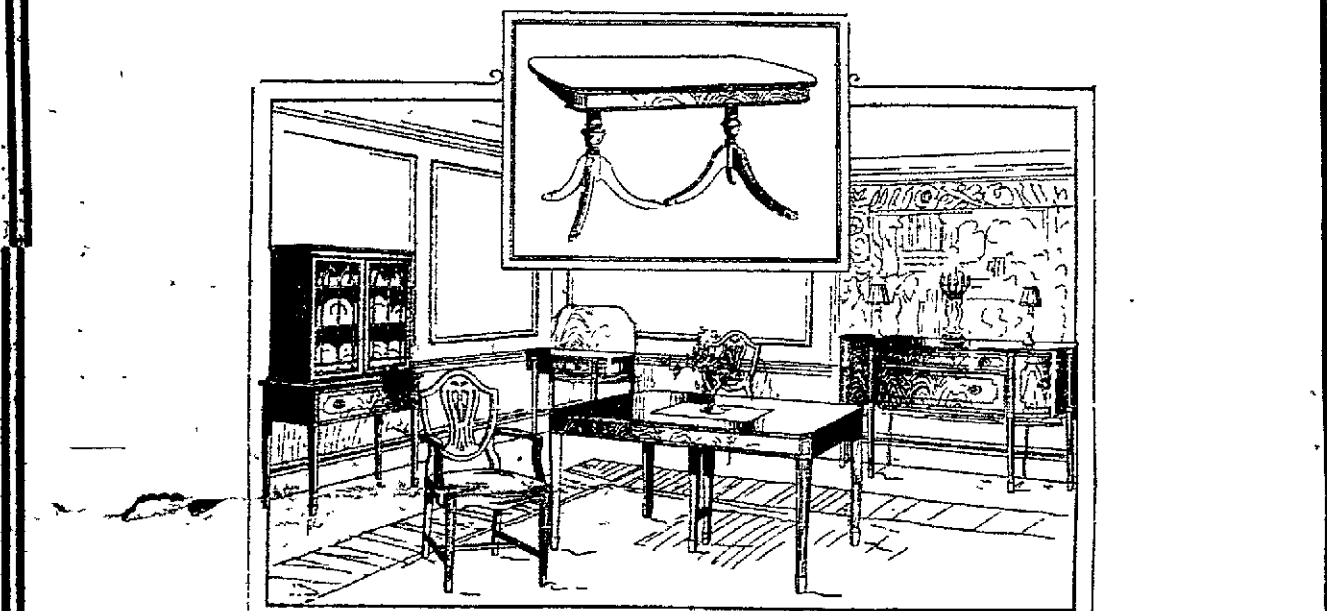

The prisoners' breakfast period broke up in confusion after they refused to eat their porridge. Wardens turned them out into the yard for a brief exercise before church services. Here the trouble began.

The convicts grabbed stones from rock piles and hurled them so effectively at guards that they were forced to flee. The riot act was read and disobeyed. Wardens replied with buckshot fire. Then the riot was on.

While a battle raged in the yard one large group of convicts rushed for the governor's office, setting fire to buildings as they ran.

ATTEND The Cooking School Daily at Memorial Hall

Stevenson's Store appreciates the privilege of joining te Herald's Cooking School which we feel is a splendid service to the home makers of this vicinity, and we are pleased to cooperate in that the home of today may be more thrifty in home economies.

One of the dining room suites used by Mrs. Thurn during The Herald's Cooking School this week, will be similar to the one pictured above. One of the joys of entertaining is the proper serving of the food prepared in the kitchen. It's the climax to the joy of preparing the meal. Have this Colonial Suite—consisting of a Duncan Phyffe table and Adams buffet and chairs—in your home. It'll pay you large dividends in "pride of ownership" with an investment of only $120.00. Did you ever see such beautiful furniture for so little?

SELLERS
KITCHEN CABINETS

Note the Sellers cabinet—not like picture—with the handy bread-box, porcelain covered shelf, all containers easily removed for cleaning, two large storage drawers, two large storage cupboards with automatic bottom extension (no kneeling or squatting to reach a pan—open the door and they come out to you). Green, Ivory, Gray, White all at the same price.

$52.25

The Breakfast Suite

Unlike the picture, the breakfast suite used at the School is an extension table with four heavy chairs. Suite is made of sturdy oak throughout. Table carries leaves under the top and will extend to five feet in length. This is not a cheap suite, but one that will give the service that you would expect to receive. Breakfast sets start at $9.50 (unfinished). The one on the stage is priced at $30.00

Gas For Country Use

Students at the School, especially those residing beyond the reach of natural gas mains, bear in mind that you, too, may have the same convenient method of cooking that is used at the Cooking School—GAS. We will be glad to explain the PYROFAX GAS SERVICE to you—how it functions—how cheaply you can use it—how inexpensive it is to install—how little trouble to operate—and how it is serviced. Why not be up-to-date in your kitchen?

STEVENSON'S

THREATEN GOVERNOR

Governor S. N. Roberts, after being struck and injured, escaped with his life by fleeing to a prison block where inmates were at peace, and shutting himself off. Then the rioting convicts, yelling and wild, tried to enter the prison hospital to attack Warden Birch, who had been severely slashed with a razor Friday. They failed to reach him.

Meanwhile extra police and armed citizens from Plymouth, Exeter, and other nearby cities and towns, arrived. They had been prepared for trouble and were heavily armed. They guarded all roads and virtually surrounded the institution. They were ordered to shoot to kill any escaping prisoners.

Then a group of Plymouth police, armed with clubs, entered within the prison walls. The wardens had been concentrated on the walls to halt escapes, and the prisoners had been comparatively free to wreck the prison. As the policemen charged them with staves however, the convicts showed first signs of being subdued.

ORDER RESTORED

In less than an hour after the police entered, but nearly 12 hours after the first outbreak, order was restored.

The prison, still was burning. Firemen, arrived and able to enter by this time, found the administration building, with prison records, destroyed. Officials said duplicate files were in London.

Other parts of the prison were damaged as a result of the long battle, with windows smashed, furniture and woodwork smashed, and several parts destroyed from smaller fires.

Dartmoor prison, comparable to America's Sing Sing prison, held 6,000 American prisoners during the War of 1812. Six of these were killed April 6, 1815, when wardens fired on a group which protested their food rations. The prisoners were mostly American seamen who refused to fight against the United States for Britain after being impressed.

Porto Rico Chief

Appointed to succeed Colonel Theodore Roosevelt as Governor General of Porto Rico, James R. Beverly (above) has been the island's Attorney General since 1928. Mr. Beverly served as a lieutenant in the World War, is 38 years old and a graduate of the University of Texas. He has been an official of the Porto Rican Government since 1925, and was highly recommended by his predecessor, Colonel Roosevelt.

OHIO BRIDGE TEST IS NOW UNDERWAY

COLUMBUS, O.—In cooperation with the state highway department, the engineering experiment station, Ohio State University is making a series of experiments to determine a standard test for piling requirements of Ohio highway bridges. In the experiments, a pile driver consisting of a 100-pound ram is being used. It can drive a pointed rod 40 feet into the ground. It can also be converted into a small well-drilling rig to take samples of the soil to a depth of 50 feet.

From the experiments, it is expected that a standardized test for proposed bridge sites can be worked out to indicate whether piling will be needed, and if so, the kind, size, length and number of piles. The investigation is in charge of Prof. C. T. Morris, of the civil engineering department, and J. R. Burkey, chief engineer, department of highways, with Karl V. Taylor, Columbus, as cooperative follow.

OHIO STATE GETS MILK FELLOWSHIP

COLUMBUS, O. — Joseph C. Hale, Akron, a graduate of Ohio State University, has established at the university this year a special scholarship for research in the problem of market milk. In recognition, the university board of trustees has designated it as the Joseph C. Hale scholarship. Hale gave $500 to underwrite the scholarship for one year. It is one of the first such gifts made to the university by alumni. The scholarship was awarded to Raymond B. Kelsey, Middletown, Conn.

Doubtless an old chief grins when he sees America now and remembers that it once killed savages.

Why the Cooking School

There is nothing new under the sun. The conservative business man will state on one day, but on the next he remembers that he must order those new noiseless typewriters for his office, a new adding machine for the bookkeeping department, a silent, efficient dictaphone for his desk, a set of buzzers and inner-office telephones so that his business quarters operate smoothly and efficiently.

His machine-equipped, effective business headquarters is no more like the office of his father, and grandfather used, than the modern kitchen is meant to be like the kitchens of a generation ago. Today there are ranges which save fuel, yet cook better, and keep the kitchen cooler and healthier than the ranges used a few years ago. There are refrigerators which are so soundly built that whether they are automatic or filled with ice, they cost less to operate than the old time refrigerator, and besides they maintain safe, healthful low temperatures; and they help with the cooking by preparing desserts, salads and other dishes in their cool depths.

Like the efficient modern kitchen which operates smoothly in every detail from the stainless cutlery in the kitchen cabinet drawers to the biggest piece of equipment; the modern grocery store is also a place of wonderment and amazing service. Good foods are not necessarily expensive foods. But they are sure to be packaged so that they are free from dust; they come in convenient small sizes so that our houses no longer need storage space for barrels and bags of oranges and baskets of fruit; the produce is fresh and all around the world, fine meats, quality dairy products, excellent salad oils and shortenings, delicious beverages are on the shelves of the neighborhood grocery store. These virtues of modern living are sometimes forgotten. They are so close at hand.

The Herald believes in the welfare and betterment of the homes of Circleville and vicinity and one sure way to bring this about is to give the housekeepers of this community an opportunity for close relationship with modern home making methods, an introduction to the newest in food products and home equipment.

The Herald Cooking School brings expert advice and authoritative knowledge from other parts of the country. At the same time it will inspire a cooperation of local merchants and housekeepers on their problems of mutual interest. The housekeepers of Circleville and vicinity can make their school a success by attending every session.

Music and Emotions

It must have been the age of innocence in music when Bach, Beethoven and Haydn were content with the melodies of folk songs, the harmonies of nature and the resources of their own imaginations as the inspiration of musical masterpieces. Modern composers must produce musical renditions of rivets, city noises, tropical cruises, trans-oceanic airplane flights, Russia's five-year-plan machinery and the clash of ideas.

There is good authority for the proposition that the enjoyment of good music is an emotional rather than an intellectual experience. That is probably true of the old classics, but unless some of this modern music, which is said to be good, is made intelligible by an explanation of what it is all about the only likely experience is one of jarred senses with now and then a moment's release from pain.

George Gershwin, an American's foremost composer, has given us something of this sort in his "Second Rhapsody" originally entitled "A Rhapsody in Rivets." Its modest and modernistic intention is to convert the raw and raucous materials of life in the great metropolis into a musical pattern. That some of this modern music is not intelligible is evident when a great director such as Leopold Stokowski must actually experience the emotions of a long steamship cruise to Mexico before he can conduct the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra in a production of Carlos Chavez' ballet "H. P."

Modern music has at least broadened the field of composition if it has contributed nothing else of merit to the art of Orpheus.

Any member of the family of Albert Johnson, R. F. D. 5, Circleville, is invited to be a guest of The Herald at the Grand Theatre. Call at this office for ticket.

SYNOPSIS

Leaving Hawaii shortly after her father's death, young and beautiful Fanchon Meredith goes to San Francisco, where she meets a handsome man named Tony. Fanchon is shocked to learn that Tony is a racketeer, implicated in a recent murder. She too, is now wanted. Fanchon escapes in an airplane under the name of "Smith." Evelyn Howard, whom she had met on the boat coming from Hawaii, is aboard. Evelyn is enroute to New York to live with her aunt, the wealthy Mrs. Carstairs, whom she has never met. After Fanchon confides in Evelyn, the latter treats her coolly. The plane crashes and Fanchon is the only survivor. She decides to escape Tony and the past and start life anew by masquerading as Evelyn. She requests a doctor to wire Mrs. Carstairs that "Evelyn" is here. A wire comes from Mrs. Carstairs saying that Colin cannot meet Fanchon. Fanchon learns Colin is Mrs. Carstairs' only son.

CHAPTER IX

The train pulled in at the station. Stood, panting and throbbing. Fanchon gathered her few belongings—she thought, fearfully, stolen, belongings together and moved with the passengers toward the platform. Some of them looked at her curiously. All looked at her, whether curiously or kindly. One woman spoke to her, saying something breathless and hurried about a dreadful accident—fortunate escape—great interest. . . . People drew aside to let her pass, whispered among themselves. Everyone knew then. There might be more reporters waiting. The old sense of being hunted, the cold panic seized her again. She was conscious of a hysterical desire to laugh long—shrilly.

If the reporters, eager, intent and courteous, back there at that big station, sitting there in their drawing room, had known, as they questioned her, that it was not alone the "sole survivor" who answered them, who replied wearily and reluctantly but with a like courtesy, that it was not Evelyn Howard at all but the Mystery Woman, the Gangster's Girl, who had occupied the press for some days past, what would they have said? How looked? What done?

For the press had been as unhappy as the police at not finding Tony's "brood." They had not even learned her name. For Tony, although Fanchon had not realized it at the time, had been rather careful where he had seen with her. He had not been "seen" with her at all until that one last fatal night. And then it had been Rosie who had up set the apple-cart. But Rosie had not known Fanchon's name, either. Yes, the press would have been very happy to have found her, as happy, almost as the police, for the press would have made a front page human interest story out of it which would have echoed from coast to coast.

But they had questioned her as the "sole survivor" and as Mrs. Carstairs' niece, and had gone away, ignorant and perfectly satisfied in their ignorance.

Fanchon left the train. Now she was walking up the stairs. Now she was approaching the barriers. She bit back the desire for reckless hysterical laughter. Tears were in her eyes. Tears of fatigue; tears of terror; of shaking nervousness.

A woman stepped forward from the crowd at the barrier and took her into her arms.

"Evelyn—my dear!"—said the woman.

Her voice was very deep—very low. She was Fanchon realized instantly, in a moment of stunned amazement, the most beautiful woman she had ever seen. She carried more than sixty years like a banner. She was tall and slender. She had great blue eyes and a clear pallor and a sweet curved mouth. Under her small hat her hair was dark and wavy. She had lovely hands. And there were tears on her cheeks to match Fanchon's own tears.

For a brief moment Mrs. Carstairs held Fanchon away at arms length. Then she exclaimed, puzzled, incredulous.

"But you're not Evelyn, are you? You can't be!"

Fanchon's heart turned over in her breast. The flush of excitement faded, and her golden skin was gray with shock. To have travelled so far upon her difficult road of deception, to have braced herself, to have dared so much and then with the first word of greeting to face defeat!

"You're not really Evelyn Howard—you can't be," this tall, beautiful woman had said.

Thus, with the first speech between them Fanchon encountered, so she fancied, bewildered, frightened and ashamed, shame, disgrace—perhaps worse. A mental vision of courts, newspaper headlines, perhaps even bars, swayed on the shuddering screen of her mind. She swayed back from Mrs. Carstairs' stammering something . . . a vain, a mad protest.

Jennie Carstairs' arm went around her again, holding her in a close and comforting clasp. She said, quick, contritely.

"Dear, I'm so sorry! I didn't mean to startle, to upset you. And after all you've been through! What an old idiot I am. Come, we'll go to the car. Let the porter take your little bag . . . Your trunk won't come for several days, but we'll attend to all that."

Talking, she half led Fanchon out through the station and the crowds to the big parked car. The chauff-

Theaters

AT THE CLIFTONA

The triumphant return last night at the Cliftona Theatre of "Ben-Hur." Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's magnificent pictureization of the Lew Wallace classic, made even more vivid by the addition of sound synchronization, brings back the most spectacular and stirring picture ever presented on the screen.

Such impressive scenes as the panorama of thousands of persons in Roman and Egyptian garb gathering in the streets of ancient Jerusalem for the triumphant entry of the new Roman ruler, or seated in the giant Circus Maximus cheering the spectacular chariot races are given added power in the fact that the shouts and cheers may now be heard rather than restricted to pantomime.

Cries of Drowning
This effect also increases the spectacle of such outstanding episodes as the battle between the Roman and pirate navies in which the chained galley slaves are lashed on to increased effort while the warriors lean from crippled ships into a sea filled with human heads and the cries of the drowning.

AT THE GRAND

Grand and glorious moment awaits you today at Grand where "Manhattan" is being produced in Technicolor by Irving Smith and Dale Wimbush, with Charles Butterworth, who opens its local engagement.

Smith and Dale remember their joint clowning as members of the Avon Comedy Four, a team that never broke up. When the role of manager of a small clothing company, he is faced with an elaborate and hand failing business, making a madman who poses as a genius and with Charles Butterworth, who, though free with his solemn and evasive advice, is none too dependable.

Dickie Moore is as adorable as he was in "Star Witness." Then, there are many besides, among whom are Walter Miller, Greta Grans, ed. Bobby Watson, Luis Alberni, Charles Middleton, Claire McDowell, Ethel Griffies, Polly Walters, Douglas Gerard, Mae Madison, Ruth Hall, Nat Pendleton, Bill Irving, William Humphries, Edward Van Sloan and Harold Waldridge.

Week after week and month after month, more and more women depend on our market for their meat needs. They have found that the Quality, Price and Service are all agreeable. It is gratifying to us to notice that our friends are still our customers and that new customers become our friends.

Wage Reduction Decision Is Near

CHICAGO, Jan. 25 — Representatives of the nation's 2,000,000 railroad union workers assembled today to deliberate over the final answer of the road presidents to labor's demands for guaranteed employment in return for acceptance of a ten per cent wage reduction for a year.

While the contents of the executives' reply were closely guarded from publication, it was indicated that the document is conciliatory in nature and may lead to a speed agreement. The reply was drafted yesterday at an all-day meeting of the president who represents the managements of 210 railroads.

WILLARD TALKS
Intimating that the executives' reply to the union demands looks toward a satisfactory compromise, Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio and spokesman for the managements in the present conference, said:
"Our answer changes, revises and clarifies the wording of the proposed agreement to more nearly meet the views of the unions." This was interpreted to mean

"Wet" Hat in Ring

Declaring that prohibition is "the first step, by constitutional change, in the direction of the destruction of popular sovereignty," Dr. Joseph Irwin France, former U. S. Senator of Maryland, has announced his intention of seeking the Republican nomination for the Presidency. The distinguished statesman, who is also a physician, farmer, scientist and banker, will base his claim for consideration on an extremely wet platform.

ago and received $5 per week and saved money, and therefore think salaries should be cut now."

Other speakers introduced by Cromley spoke as follows:

Ed Ruff, S. Bloomfield—"Seventy-five percent of the people in my neighborhood wish salaries cut 25 per cent instead of 10."

John Stevenson, Jackson-twp—"Most of our people wish that the budget be cut in half."

Don Rader, Circleville-twp—"Most of the persons whom I visited wished a cut. Forty-five out of 50 people I visited signed the petition."

Lee T. Shaner, E. Union-st—"The destiny of Pickaway-co is in the hands of the commissioners and if something isn't done there will be no money with which to appropriate in two years."

Ira Scothorn, Walnut-st—"Seventy-one out of 74 persons I visited signed the petition and favored a drastic cut in the budget."

Harry Neff, Darby-twp—"Every one I visited was of the opinion that something must be done. No one refused to sign the petition."

William Hall, Scioto-twp—"Those I visited did not think the deputies should be cut any lower than the officials and that county extension work should be done away with."

Charles Niles, Jackson-twp—"A cut should be made in salaries."

Mr. Cromley concluded the talks by saying that the persons present were a representative group of taxpayers and those who appeared before the county commissioners on Monday, Jan. 11, were not truly representative. "We have only come to assist, not to find fault," he said. "We wish the commissioners to use their influence in cutting the salaries of school teachers and cutting salaries of township trustees 50 per cent. A drastic cut must be made in expenses in the schools," he concluded.

The meeting which commenced at 10:15 a. m., adjourned just 40 minutes later.

PRESENT PETITIONS

After the adjournment Mr. Cromley presented 21 petitions to the commissioners which contained over 1500 signers. The petition read as follows:

We, the undersigned taxpayers do humbly petition your honorable body to reduce the 1932 budget for Pickaway-co by reducing compensation of the clerks and assistants, of the county officials, 15 per cent, and by reducing appropriations for agriculture extension fund 50 per cent and by requesting all elective officers of the county to accept a 10 per cent reduction in salary.

We ask the above reduction in order that we may thereby be able to pay our taxes which are becoming more burdensome as our ability to pay becomes less.

John Hay in closing the meeting told those present that he could see where reductions in the budget could be made and that when final decision is made on the budget the tax-payers will be notified.

Another representative group of citizens was expected to meet with the commissioners at 2 p. m., Monday.

of the final pleas for the defense. He is quoted by the Lancaster Eagle; "Thomas Renick of Circleville, slight of stature and quiet in demeanor, then opened the argument before the jury for the defense. The spectators leaned forward eagerly to get every word of his calmly delivered address. He insisted that oratory was not an argument in this case. Rather, he insisted that a calm review of the testimony of the children of the dead man was more potent than any stress of words. He pointed out that only a secure justice to the accused would sons and daughters take the witness stand and publicly condemn their own father were not those facts necessary to safeguard the rights of another person. Only the most aggravated form of abuse and cruelty would bring a child to this."

"He indicated that the fate of Mr. Carper was the inevitable fate of a man as low in spiritual principle and as abnormally cruel as Harvey Carper. And the marvel of it all is that Harvey Carper lived as long as he did."

ASKED ACQUITTAL

"Mr. Renick concluded asking for an acquittal and restoration to civil life of Sese Carper." His talk was the final one of the morning session with Mr. Vorys making the final argument for the defense the first thing after the noon session with Prosecutor Cunningham stating his final case following Mr. Vorys. Judge Acton's charge to the jury followed an intermission.

Sesco Carper was pleased with the verdict and heartily shook the hand of each of his attorneys as soon as the verdict was returned. He was surrounded by his brothers and sister who came to his defense as soon as the jury had been dismissed.

health fads. Her talk is witty, entertaining and a valuable source of information for any woman who must plan the meals for a family. Mrs. Thurn is not only a woman of wide professional home making experience, but she is a practical housekeeper as well. She talks from her own experience as a home maker. She has profited by her own mistakes as a young housekeeper. "She brings to her audience the rich experience of years of housekeeping. Besides this valuable fund of facts Mrs. Thurn offers new ideas in home making based on the findings of home economics experts throughout the country. She has visited the most important cities of the United States, and has observed cookery and home entertaining standards everywhere. The benefits of this wide contact with the women of the country, are given out daily in the sessions to the fortunate women who hear her.

The women are urged to bring the men along, if they are free tomorrow afternoon or any other afternoon this week. "Let them see the fine equipment in the model kitchen. Let them hear the newest ideas about cookery and menu making." Mrs. Thurn declared. They will come in handy to carry home those gift market baskets filled to overflowing with useful, good foods and soaps. A number of these baskets will be distributed at each session.

Brides, young unmarried women, experienced housekeepers and all home makers of Circleville and vicinity are invited. Tomorrow at 2 o'clock, at Memorial Hall admission is free. No tickets required.

WIELDER OF CLUB KILLS THIRD MAN

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—A maniacal club-wielder was sought today as the possible perpetrator of the "cross-word puzzle" murder of Dr. James M. Shaffer, 54-year-old dentist.

The vicious slaying of the kind neighborhood dentist, police pointed out, strikingly resembles two other unsolved murders committed within the past 10 days.

In the two previous killings both victims—Charles Tyrrell, 45, and Charles Pagel, 48, were middle-aged. Both were mysteriously clubbed to death and in neither of the murders could robbery or any other motive be discovered.

ROBBERIES SOLVED BY ARREST OF MAN

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 25.—Several robberies and automobile thefts were expected by police to be solved today with the arrest of Louis Rose, 28, former Atlanta penitentiary convict, in connection with an attempt robbery of the Wirtz Brothers Mail Shop here Friday.

Rose was captured yesterday at the home of his brother-in-law, Fred Porter, at Sugar Creek, Athens-co, after a two-day search. He was suffering a bullet wound in his chest, inflicted, police said, by John Wirtz, one of the mail store proprietors, during the attempt hold-up.

MUHLBERG SCHOOL NOTES

The last regular meeting of the P. T. A. was attended by a large crowd. We had several numbers from the school children. Mr. Buchanan, the county superintendent, was present and gave a very interesting talk.

All our teachers but Mr. McPherson were present at the county teachers' meeting held at Jackson-town last Saturday.

Our teachers are preparing for the county-wide spelling contest which will be held in April at Jackson-town building.

The next issue of our school paper will be out soon. Miss Steele or it was Miss Steele until just recently, it is now Mrs. Johnnie Brigner, has been working very hard for the past few days getting the material organized for this paper.

Our last basketball game was with Saltcreek on our floor. The Saltcreek girls won by a large majority. The boys' game was a very hard-fought game. The home boys led the whole game, through and they weakened in the last few minutes of play. The final score was 18-15 in Saltcreek's favor. Our next game is with Atlanta on her floor.

The boys and girls in the elementary school are putting on a membership drive for the P. T. A. Last year through this same means we were able to secure several new members.

The last literary program was very well attended. The program was in the hands of Mr. Stebelton and a committee who was appointed by the organization.

The last chapter program was postponed until next Monday. The last program was given by Miss Beatty and the 5th and 6th grades. The program for next Monday will be given by Miss Hill and the 3rd and 4th grades.

The Juniors are making their plans to give their class play "Salt Water Taffy" Feb. 3. The price of admission is 10c and 20c.

The date for commencement exercises will be Thursday, April 21. The Baccalaureate, April 17. Senior Class Play, April 15. Friday, April 22, last day of school.

The Real Concern

I am not concerned that I have no place; I am concerned how I shall fit myself for one. I am not concerned at not being known; I seek to be worthy to be known. —Confucius.

Cypress Really Pine

The cypress belongs to the pine family. Any tree of the pine family in Africa is called African cypress.

How One Woman Lost 10 Lbs. in a Week

Mrs. Betty Larduke of Dayton writes: "I am using Kruschen to reduce weight—I lost 10 pounds in one week, and cannot say too much to recommend it."

To take off fat easily, SAFELY and HARMLESSLY, take one half of hot water in the morning before breakfast—it is the safe way to lose pounds! It is fast and one bottle that in 4 weeks costs but a trifle. It is the safest way to get fat—money back.

But be sure and get Kruschen Salt—imitations are numerous and you must safeguard your health.

BEHIND the SCENE In HOLLYWOOD

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—One night when Greta Garbo was playing hide-and-seek with New York, she made Ramon Novarro get out of a cab and walk home.

This novel experience is related by Ramon, along with other intimate details of the now famous "Gussie Berger" episode.

On the occasion mentioned, Ramon was escorting Greta home from an evening of seeing the sights. Their cab drove up to the Ritz-Carlton, where, earlier in the evening, Greta had met Ramon in the lobby, and where he believed her to be stopping. To his amazement, she told him to get out, that she lived somewhere else and was going to keep the cab. There being nothing else to do, Ramon alighted and walked back to his own hotel.

Squirring La Garbo, I take it, was a succession of uncertainties for Ramon.

In the first place, there was her unusual method of acquainting him of her presence in New York. He got a box of flowers with a card signed "M. H." After some mystification, the idea finally dawned on him. "M. H."—Mata Hari—her character in their picture. Immediately he dispatched three dozen yellow roses to the Ritz-Carlton with a card reading Alexis Rosinoff—his character in their picture.

For several days she kept him waiting, and then came word arranging their rendezvous in the lobby.

Ramon is thoroughly thrilled by La Garbo. His fondest hope is to play in more pictures with her.

THE END IN SIGHT.

They're telling a story about a distinguished voice teacher who has succumbed to the lure of Hollywood gold.

Some time ago, interest reviving in musicals, a producer engaged the teacher to work with a pretty film actress.

The other day he met the teacher. "How is she getting along? Any better?" he inquired.

The teacher considered him morosely. "Oh, yes," he sighed. "Today I took the cotton out of my ears."

A free lance again, Myrna Loy has been engaged by Universal to take Estelle Taylor's part in "Night Club." Estelle is in the hospital, suffering pretty terribly with a fractured vertebrae in her neck. "Night Club," by the way, will be the next vehicle of Boris Karloff, who, Universal fondly hopes, is a successor to Lon Chaney.

"ALFALFA BILL" WON'T SPEAK AT A BANQUET INDIANAPOLIS — Governor "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, of Oklahoma, will address the district meeting of Rotary International here Feb. 28 on one condition.

That condition, the Oklahoma presidential possibility imposed, was that his appearance not be in connection with a banquet.

"I would like, if possible, for the meeting to be a general one," Governor Murray wrote in his acceptance of the invitation extended him to speak, "and not a banquet."

"I despise banquets to speak to, because men do not think at banquets, nor do they think when they are full of food."

Let Winorr be your gardener

WINORR canned vegetables enjoy consumer preference in many of the important markets. The name of Circleville is carried throughout the United States and to foreign countries on the labels of Winorr's cans. This wide spread preference is due to the careful planning and supervision by Winorr from the growing and selection of the seed to harvesting vegetables at just the right time, and the employment of the most modern methods to preserve tender, delicious vegetables in their natural succulence and flavor.

THERE is no reason why the most discriminating consumer should seek further than the canned vegetable packs of Pickaway County for her requirements. If our products, for instance, enjoy a consumer preference in London, England, with all the high cost of transportation involved, we should enjoy a consumer preference in our home town comparable to that demonstrated by the housewives of the British capital.

Mozart Canned Vegetables are immediately available to your dealers at all times. If your dealer's stock does not include the item you desire please call W. J. Weaver and they will advise you the nearest grocer handling the item you wish.

We Suggest The Following Delicacies Which Are Available At The Above Sources:

MOZART Brand Golden Kernel Corn (Whole Kernel, - Just like you would cut it from the cob yourself)

MOZART Brand Country Gentleman Corn (The pick of the pack, - from only the youngest, sweetest, and plump-est ears)

MOZART Brand Melting Sugar Peas (Pronounced by epicures as perfect)

MOZART Brand Hand Packed Tomatoes (Red ripe, - with the fresh Tomato flavor, - and they turn out of the can whole)

The above are representative of the 35 vegetable numbers included in the Mozart line.

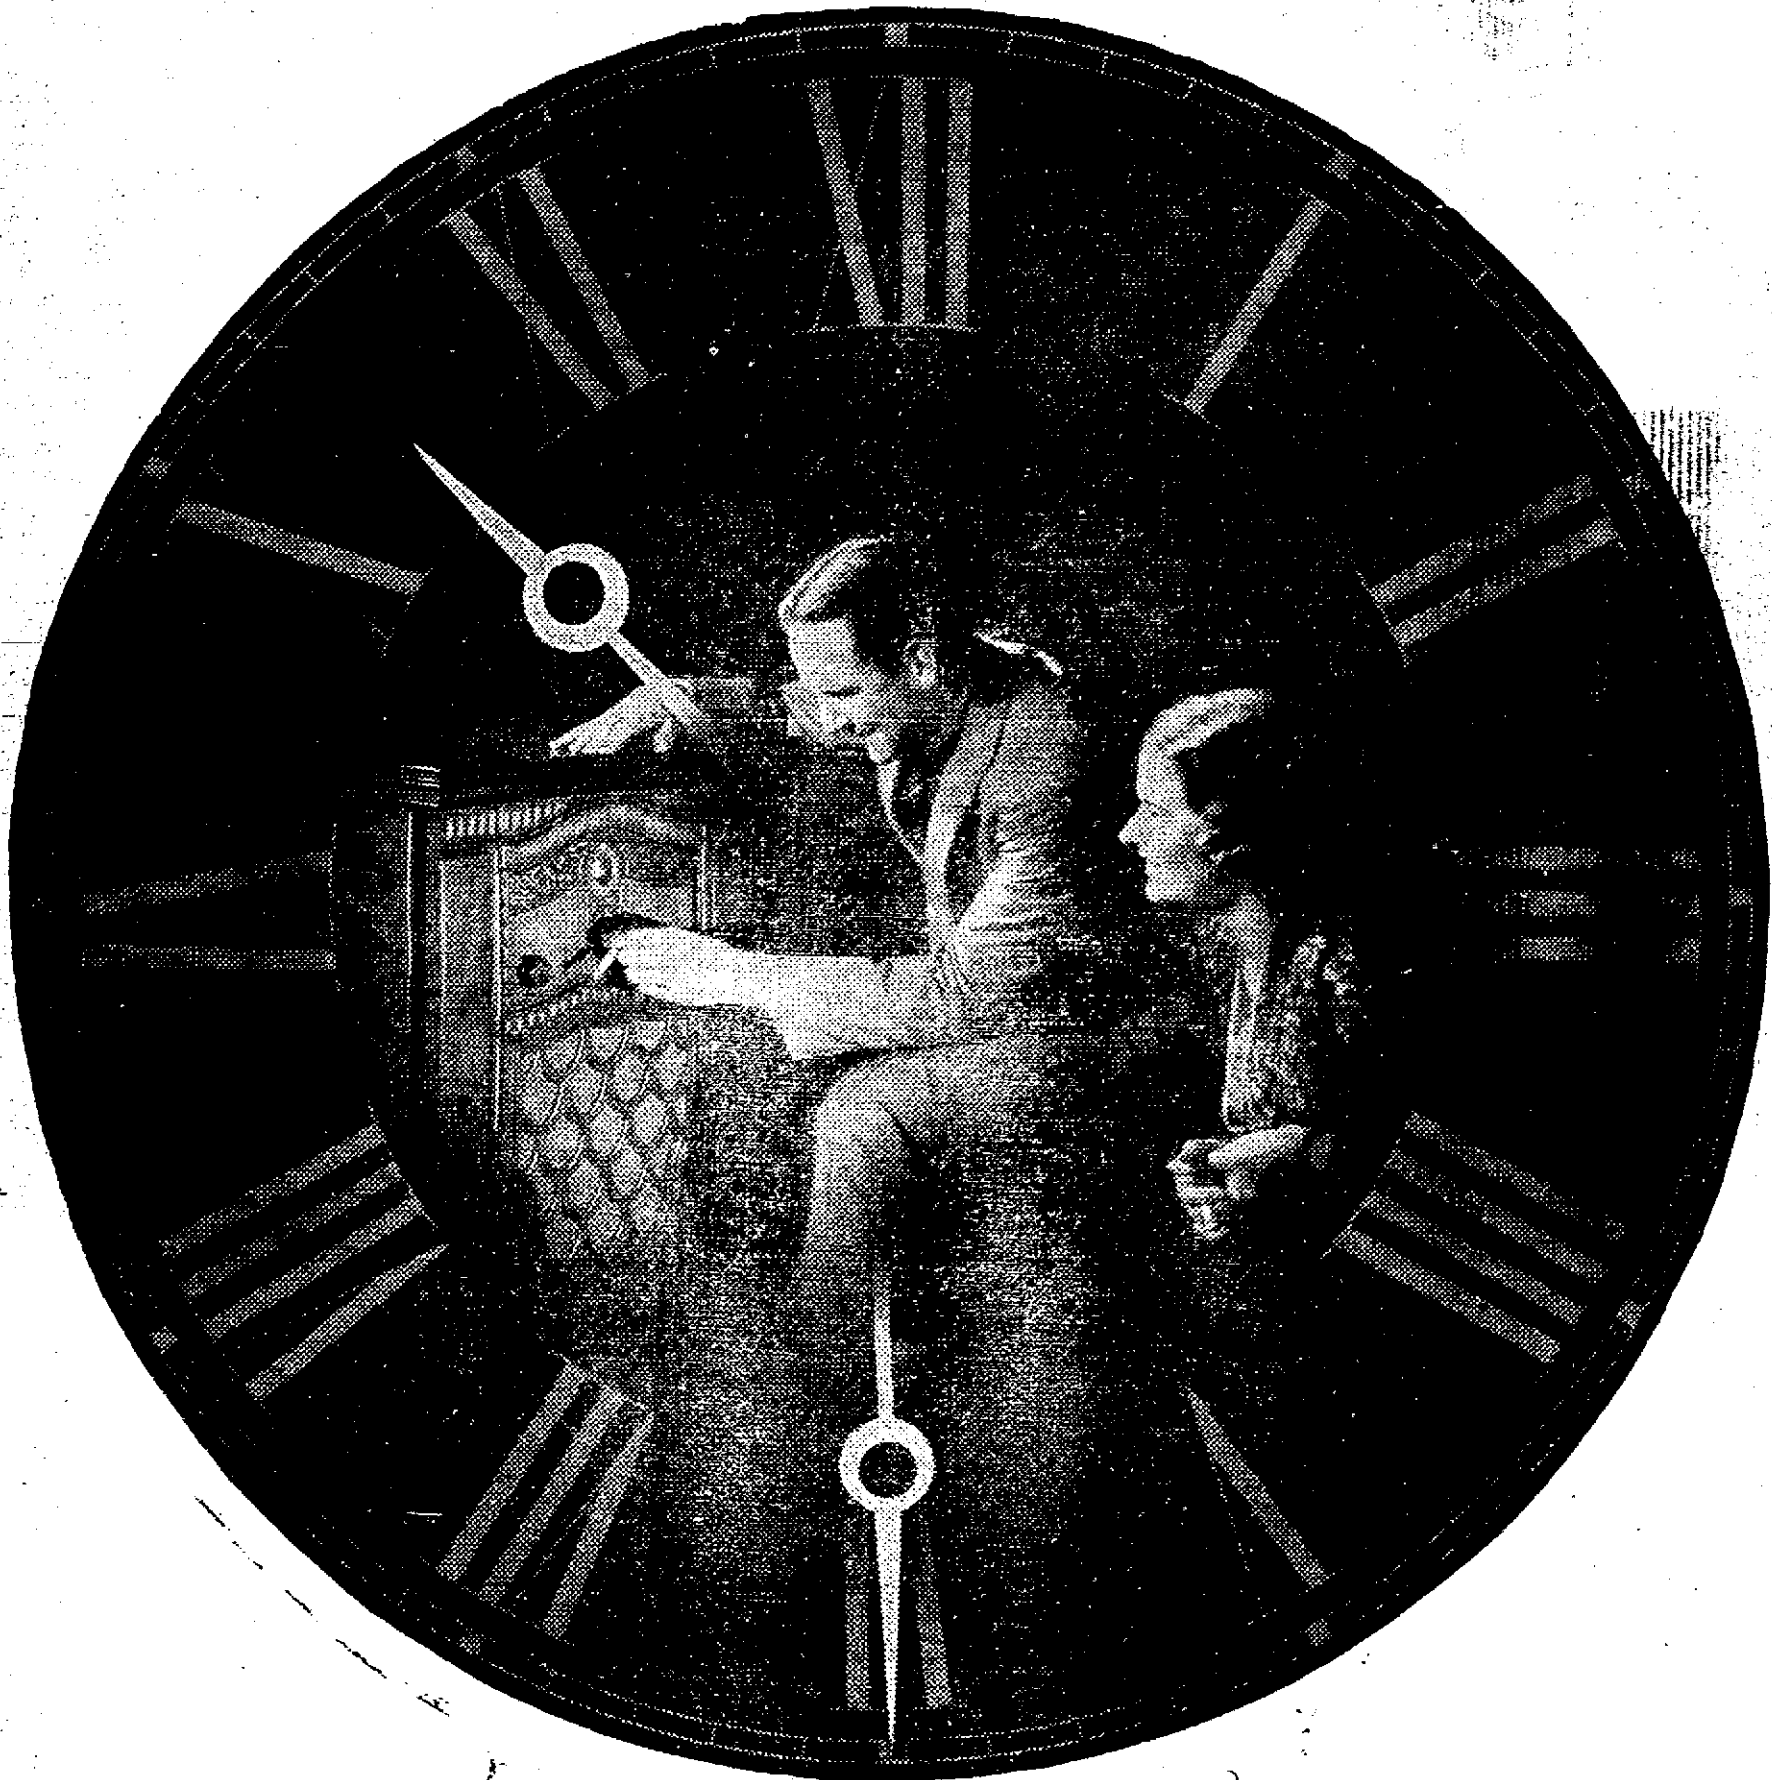

For a desirable grade, but priced somewhat lower than Mozart, ask for Goodwill Brand. For those who are still more economically inclined, for a consistently good Standard Brand, - Specify Werthmor.

Mrs. George O. Thurn will tell you why you should let Winorr be your gardener. Mrs. Thurn says: The people of Circleville are mighty fortunate in having such fine canned goods available right in Circleville and should insist on getting Winorr products at all times.

NAT SHILKRET and his 35-piece orchestra

For this Chesterfield Program, Mr. Shilkret has assembled and will personally conduct an orchestra of exceptional range and color. Mr. Shilkret's musical background is impressive—with the Russian Symphony Orchestra, the New York Philharmonic, and as organizer and director of the Victor Symphony Orchestra, where his arrangements and recordings of lighter music proved immensely popular.

COAST-TO-COAST OVER THE COLUMBIA NETWORK

Six nights a week; 10:30-10:45 (Eastern Standard Time.) The rich baritone of Alex Gray, romantic star of stage and screen... a large and splendidly-balanced orchestra of first rank, drawing from all that is tuneful in today's music. This is one of radio's "high spots."

ALEX GRAY, popular soloist

"How he can sing!" is the universal comment. A rising star of musical comedy stage and screen, and with rare gifts of personality and voice, Mr. Gray's stirring baritone is ideal for radio and for the romantic and colorful ballads which he sings so well. An addition to radio's first-line artists, and an important figure in "Music that Satisfies."
